A charming event of the week was the card party given for girl friends by Miss Genevieve Liggett on Friday afternoon at her home, 3000 Prospect avenue. The house was lavishly decorated with La France roses, pink carnations, white chrysanthemiums and paims. Progressive high five occupied all thoughts and kept all tongues quiet for several hours. Then light refreshments were served and girlish chatter held full sway.

The marriage of Miss Sadle Hershfield and Dr. Leon Rosenwald was celebrated Wednesday evening at $0 clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hershfield, 1424 Wyandotte street, A small altar was arranged in the parlor, on which tall tandles burned. Palms formed a dense background and on either side were pedestals bearing palms whose fronds met in an arch above the altar. Pink roses were also used in the parlor and the decoration of the dining room consisted of white chrysanthemums and maldenhair ferns.

An orchestra played the wedding march and the bride entered on the arm of her father, followed by the groom, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Stern. There were no attendants. The bride wore a simple and girlish gown of white organdie and carried bride roses. Rabbi Mayer performed the impressive Jewish ceremony.

Only relatives and very few friends were present and immediately after the serving of refreshments. Dr. and Mrs. Rosenwald only relatives and very few friends were present and immediately after the serving of refreshments. Dr. and Mrs. Rosenwald left on a brief wedding journey. They will be at home at the Cordova after December 1. The wedding gifts included silver, cutglass, pictures, bric-a-brac and furniture, both elaborate and costly. Dr. Shoyer, his mother and sister and Mr. Elias Summerneld and daughter, of Leavenworth, were

The reception given by the Tabernacle Society, Thursday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelly, 1216 Charlotte street, was a brilliant affair. Music and flowers were charmingly em-ployed to delight the senses. Stately palms beautiful ferns and quantities of aspara-gus intermingled with gorgeous chrysan-themums, plak roses and glowing American themums, pink roses and glowing American Beauties were so disposed in the various rooms as to harmonize with the furnishing of each. A very large attendance was registered. In any less spacious home the throng of guests would have become a veritable crush, this response being a graceful compliment to the members as well as to the courteous host and hostess, who lent their artistic home for the occasion.

EDGAR ALLEN POE'S PARENTS. His Father Was Husband to an Act ress' Daughter-Poet's Birth-

The recent unveiling of a memorial to ginia lends interest to a playbill owned by TURE.

The recent unveiling of a memorial to Edgar Allen Poe at the University of Virginia lends interest to a playbill owned by a Boston collector of theatrical memoranda. This bill is of the Boston theater, in Federal street, for October 19, 1808, exactly three months before the birth of the poet. Poe's father, David Poe, Jr., had married the beautiful Elizabeth Arnold, the daughter of Mrs. Arnold, an English actress. The last named had come over to this country with her little daughter, then only 9 years old, to join the stock company at the Boston theater, and on February 12, 1726, made her debut here as Rosetta in Bickerstaff's "Love in a Village." Mrs. Arnold came from the Covent Garden theater, in London, where she had been in the chorus. There she was advertised among the vocalists in "The Woodman" in 138, in "Biue Beard" two years later, and the next season in "Zeima," but, as far as known, she did not assume a speaking character on the London stage. Here, however, she played many ambitious parts, being prominent in farce, comedy, pantomime and opera, ranking as one of the best actresses in the company. In the summer of 1796, Mrs. Arnold tor Mrs. Tubbs, as she had married a strolling player of that name) gave concerts at Portsmouth, N. H., and other New England towns, assisted by her husband and daughter. The following spring they were playing at Newport. R. i., in Mr. Harper's company, where on April 12. Mrs. Tubbs took her benefit as Rosina in Mrs. Brooke's play of that name, her daughter appearing as Little Pickle, "with songs," in Bickerstaff's "The Spoiled Chilld." The previous week little Miss Arnold had played Solomon Smack in Yarrow's "Trick Upon Trick" at the Newport theater, and it is probable that she had acted before this with her mother and stepfather in an entertainment they had given in some of the New England towns, Soon after Mrs. Tubbs benefit the family seceded from Harper, and on May 2, gave a concert and reading which they called "Oddlites After the Manner of Dibdin," at a hall in Church

Joined the stock company here with his wife.

The bill of October 19, 1808, announces, "for the first time this season, a tragedy in five acts, called "King Lear and His Three Daughters." This was one of the various mutilated versions of Shakespeare's play. In the cast Mr. Fennell played Lear; Mr. Caulfield, Edgar: Mr. Mills, Kent; Mr. Poe, Edmund, and Mrs. Poe, Cordella. After the tragedy Mrs. Poe sang "Nobody Coming to Marry Me." The afterpiece, "for the first and only time this season," was "The Prize; or, 2, 5, 3, 8." In this piece Mr. Poe played Captain Heartwell, while Mrs. Grauprer, whose descendants are among the most honored citizens of Boston, acted Caroline. It is interesting to note that the doors opened at 5:15, and the curtain rose an hour later. David Poe was not remarkably successful as an actor, but his wife, who was seen in all kinds of parts, was really a charming soubrette, her beautiful voice adding to her attractiveness. They were in the stock company at the Boston theater for some three years, and after Edgar's birth here, on January 19, 1808, they finished out the season and in the fall went to New York and joined the company at the Park theater. It is unfortunate that the exact the season and in the fall went to New York and joined the company at the Park theater. It is unfortunate that the exact place of the poet's birth is unknown, and it would be a good incentive to research in the matter if one of our numerous clubs or societies should offer to mark the spot with an appropriate tablet if it could be identi-fied.

CLAIRVOVANTO

NeTseldworT pailtirT Little annoyances in life leave their mark upon the hand as well as the brain

66RUBEL, 99 ORIENTAL PALMIST GLAIRVOYANT AND TRANCE MEDIUM

Reads the life by these little trouble lines and gives timely advice that keeps the graver troubles from knocking at the door and gives timely advice that keeps the graver troubles from knocking at the door of your life.

PERIODS OF UNCERTAINTY come into the lives of each and every human being. Times when the ship of life seems stranded upon the shoals of adversity and the gathering clouds of trouble engulf the future and no ray of hope appears in life's horizon.

CAN THE FUTURE BE TOLD?

No thinking person will deny the existence of clairvoyant power. Moses, Daniel and the other prophets of Biblical times possessed this power of second sight and the world has for thousands of years profited by their revelations.

SPIRITS OF THE OTHER WORLD.

When the gates of heaven were opened to Job, and the spirits descended from on high to guard and guide Him and His people; when Saul facel the burning bush, when the angels guided the wise men to the manger wherein Christ was born, then was shown to the world the power and adding grace vouchsafed humanity by the spirits of the other world.

COME AND BE CONVINCED.

"Rubel" claims to have spirit control, to be able to tell the past, present and future of his patrons' lives, to locate mines and give the true value and extent of ore bodies, to give timely advice on all specularity eventures, to give seasonable aid in all love affairs and other affairs of life, thereby reuniting the separated and causing speedy marriage with the one you love.

love affairs and other affairs of life, thereby reuniting the separated and causing speedy marriage with the one you love.

NO DARK MYSTERY.

"Rubel" has no dark mysterious cabinets or rooms. His readings are given in the broad light of sober sense. No lady need fear to pay him a visit as his rooms are always in complete charge of a lady.
